个人简介

Gordon Tsui is a seasoned bond investor with nearly three decades of expertise in monetising macroeconomic cycles. Since joining Ping An of China Asset Management (Hong Kong) in 2022, he has successfully built and led a high-powered fixed income team, delivering exceptional returns with AUM exceeding USD 10 billion — built from scratch in his first 3-year term. He has been a board member of the asset management company in HK since 2023.

A key advocate for the offshore RMB bond market, Gordon actively supports its growth through the RMB-QDII scheme (AUM over CNH 30 billion).

He was formerly head of fixed income investment at Taikang Asset Management (Hong Kong) & exclusively managed USD bond portfolio of Taikang Insurance Group Inc for 8 years. Taikang was then the largest privately-owned, non-listed insurance conglomerate in China and across the world.

Gordon combines strong macro/micro-economic insights, measured risk management discipline and broad interpersonal network spanning regulators, financial media and peer buy-side/sell-side communities globally to steer his teams of investment professionals in various firms, consistently helping asset owners and family offices mitigate drawdowns and capture upsides.

At Hang Seng Bank (HASE) for nearly a decade, he was Lead Manager of Hang Seng RMB Bond Fund (恒生人民币债券基金) during 2011–14, earning inaugural Best-in-Class award from Bloomberg Businessweek on 3-year investment returns, Sharpe ratios and fund sizes.

In 2006, Gordon played a key role in averting HASE from investing in CDOs prior to the outbreak of Global Financial Crisis. With zero exposure, HASE distinguished itself as the ONLY large-cap bank in HK and Domestic Systemically Important Bank (D-SIB) that weathered the 2007–08 crisis without the need to seek rescue or implement layoffs. The household name of Hang Seng Index stands as a testament for its importance within China's financial architecture.

Gordon holds a First Class Honours degree in Economics from LSE on full scholarship awarded by Hong Kong SAR Government (1995–98). He stationed in US on A-2 diplomatic terms for the junior role of Representative (New York Office) of HKMA, the de facto central bank, during 2001–04 and witnessed the traumatic events of 9/11 from his Midtown Manhattan office on Park Avenue/East 54th Street. This early-career experience initiated his interest in the nuanced geopolitical dynamics among superpowers and their implications for macro markets, a perspective that remains invaluable in today’s complex GeoMacro landscape.

Lead Manager of Hang Seng RMB Bond Fund, one of the largest offshore renminbi bond funds based in Hong Kong with AUM exceeding CNY1 billion. The fund won the inaugural Best in Class award for Mutual Funds – RMB Bond at "Bloomberg Businessweek Top Fund Awards 2014" based on 1- & 3-year returns and Sharpe Ratios (measuring period till 30th Sep 2014) for open-end funds in Hong Kong with minimum fund size of US$100 million and track record of minimum 3 years.

The key to success was to refrain from fully deploying all funds to bonds despite demands from sales team. Nearly half of the initial AUM of about CNH 500 million (i.e. CNH 250 million) had been safe-kept in short-dated time deposits and then subsequently deployed after Eurozone debt crisis erupted in Summer 2011. Roughly another CNH 500 million was raised in short period thanks to HASE's rich client resources and then fully deployed at attractive bond prices amid distressed selloffs during 3Q2011

Cumulative Performance of Hang Seng RMB Bond Fund at end-Oct 2014:
In CNH: 1Y +4.8%, 3Y +17.0%; In USD: 1Y +4.2%, 3Y +21.1%

Cumulative Performance of HSBC Offshore Renminbi Bond Index at end-Oct 2014:
In CNH: 1Y +3.5%, 3Y +11.8%; In USD: 1Y +2.9%, 3Y +15.9%
